QUESTIONING FOR RESULTS

Question:

How do you ask questions that produce the most results?

Answer:

Ask yourself, “What is the question that I can ask which by the very nature of the presuppositions in the question itself will cause the client to make the greatest amount of change by having to accept the presuppositions inherent in the question?”

ELICITATION OF THE TIME LINE #1

(We do this with the client awake — not in trance — increasing unconscious trust & cooperation.)

“If I were to ask your unconscious mind, where your past is, and where your future is, I have an idea that you might say, “It’s from right to left, or front to back, or up to down, or in some direction from you in relation to your body. And it’s not your conscious concept that I’m interested in, it’s your unconscious. So, if I were to ask your unconscious mind where’s your past, to what direction would you point?”

(Always note all analog behavior in elicitation)

“And your future, what direction would you point if I asked your unconscious mind, where’s your future?”

NOTE: As you elicit the Time Line, make sure that you understand that however your client does it (how they organize the past and future) is perfect for your client. Make no value judgments about the organization of your client’s Time Line until you find out if it works for your client.

If there are two or more Time Lines, say, “Which of these Time Lines would be the best to use to cause the most pervasive and long lasting change to occur?”

ELICITATION OF THE TIME LINE #2

Please use this page ONLY IF page 9, does not work

Maintain the relationship and communication with the unconscious mind so as to discover the unconscious storage and organization.

1. Can you remember something that happened 1 week ago?
2. Good, as you do, can you notice where it comes from? (Alternatively, since some clients can't notice where a memory comes from, they "can notice where it goes to.")
3. Repeat the process for 1 & 2 for 1 month ago, 1 year ago, 5 years ago, and 10 years ago.
4. Now, repeat 1 & 2 for 1 month in the future, 1 year in the future, 5 years in the future, and 10 years in the future.
5. Now, ask the client, "Do you notice that this arrangement implies a line, or some linear arrangement of your memories?"

The arrangement may be linear or it may not. Allow your language and your behavior to be non-directive so as to discover and not install the Time Line for your client.

FIRST TEST OF ELICITATION

"Now, would you bring to mind the directions that you pointed to (or the memories of the past and future that you noticed). Do you notice that they imply a line?"

If no: "Well, could you notice that?"

If still no: "Is your past arranged by location, for example, where you lived?"

If yes: "How would it look if, for purposes of this process, it were stretched out in a line?"

(Remember Time Line Therapy® is not only a visual process, it can be done visually or auditorally or kinesthetically.)

"Good, now when I say line, I don't mean to imply only visual, because in a moment I'm going to ask you to float up above that line, and by float, I also mean as sounds floating on the wind, or floating in the bathtub, or visually. However you float up above your Time Line is perfect. So, can you just float up above your Time Line?"

(If client is doing the process visually) "Make sure you are looking through your own eyes."

Now, remaining above your Time Line just float back into the past (pause). Are you there?"

"Good, float back toward now, and stop there (pause). Are you there? Good. Now, facing toward the future, float up higher and farther back into the past.

"And now, float out into your future (pause). Are you there?"

"Now, float up higher. Float so high that your time line seems like one inch long."
(pause)

"Good, float back to now, and float down into now and come back in the room."
(pause)

"How was that?"

DISCOVERING THE ROOT CAUSE

NOTE: This section is done before client is above the Time Line. It increases unconscious trust and cooperation.

1. Ask: "Is it all right for your Unconscious Mind for you to release this (emotion or limiting decision) today and for you to be aware of it consciously?"

2. Find the First Event:

"What is the root cause of this problem, the first event which, when disconnected, will cause the problem to disappear?"

If you were to know, was it before, during, or after your birth?

⇒ BEFORE: "In the womb or before?"

WOMB: "What month?"

BEFORE: "Was it a past life or passed down to you genealogically?"

PAST LIFE: "How many lifetimes ago?"

GENEALOGICAL: "How many generations ago?"

⇒ AFTER: "If you were to know, what age were you?"
(Go to next page.)

NOTES:

- If client says "I don't know what the root cause is" then respond with "I know you don't, but if you did...take whatever comes up...trust your unconscious mind."
- If client says both genealogical and past life, work with the earlier one first, then the later.
- Ratify the change: Verify conscious acknowledgment of shift. When a major physiological shift occurs in the client, be sure to mention it: "That was a big one, wasn't it?"
- When you are eliciting the Root Cause for a Limiting Decision, note if the client is at Cause. If not, then ask for the Limiting Decision that caused the Limiting Decision in question.

Procedure:

1. "Just float up above your Time Line, and over the past to Position #1, facing the past, and when you get there notice the event. Let me know when you're there"
2. "Now, float to Position #2 directly up above the event so you are looking down on the event. Ask your Unconscious Mind what it needs to learn from the event, the learning of which will allow you to let go of the emotions easily and effortlessly. Your Unconscious Mind can preserve the learnings so that if you need them in the future, they'll be there." (pause) When the Client has the learnings, "Tell me what they are." If there are no new learnings go to Step #3. If there are new learnings go to Step #3.
3. "Now, float to Position #3 so you are above the event and before the event, and you are looking toward now. (Make sure you are well before any of the chain of events that led to that event.) And ask yourself, 'Now, where are the emotions?'" ¹
4. "Float down inside the event, to Position #4, looking through your own eyes, and check on the emotions. Are they there? Or have they disappeared! Now!! Good, go back to Position #3."
5. "Now, come back to now above your Time Line only as quickly as you can let go of all the (name the emotion) on the events all the way back to now, assume position 3 with each subsequent event, preserve the learnings, and let go of the (name the emotion) all the way back to now. (When Client is done) Float down into now, and come back into the room." (Break State)
6. Test: (Client back at now.) "Can you remember any event in the past where you used to be able to feel that old emotion, and go back and notice if you can feel it, or you may find that you cannot. Good come back to now." (Test until the client is convinced)
7. Future pace: (Client back at now.) "I want you to go out into the future to an unspecified time in the future which if it had happened in the past, you would have felt inappropriate or unwarranted (name the emotion), and notice if you can find that old emotion, or you may find that you cannot. OK?" Good come back to now.

THE 3 THINGS TO CHECK AT POSITION #3

1. Make sure client is in position #3.

(Indicator: Client is really feeling the emotions)

Tell client:

“Get up higher, and float farther back.”

“Get high enough and far enough back until the emotion disappears,”

2. Be sure client is before the first event.

(Indicator: 90% of the emotions release.)

Ask client:

“Are you before the first event?”

“Is there an event earlier than this one? Go back before the FIRST one.”

3. Must be totally agreeable to let go of the emotion.

(Indicator: Client says, “The emotions are not releasing.”)

Ask client:

“What is there to learn from this event? If you learn this, won’t it be better than having the old emotions? How can you get the same benefit that the emotions provided when you let them go?”

(Use this reframe or any other reframe on GENERAL REFRAMES, page 15.)

NOTES REGARDING LEARNINGS

Learnings are not always obvious to the client. Especially where the client already has learnings, (s)he may not get any new or obvious ones. When you (as Time Line Therapy® Practitioner) are aware of learnings they should NOT be:

- Negative
- Past
- Others

When you are aware of learnings they should be:

- Positive
- Self
- Future

GENERAL REFRAMES

USE IF NEGATIVE EMOTIONS DO NOT RELEASE

BASED UPON:

1. Learning:

“What is there to have learned from this event, the learning of which will allow you to easily let go of the emotions? Won’t it be better to preserve the learnings than the emotions? If you let go of the emotions and preserve the learnings you will have learned what you needed.”

2. Protection/Safety:

“The negative emotion of _____ doesn’t protect you.”

(If you’re working with fear or anger, mention flight or fight)

“In fact negative emotions aren’t safe for the body. Each negative emotion can contribute to the following types of health problems:

Anger	Heart attack, Heightened Cholesterol (JAMA, 6/96)
Sadness	Weakened Immune System, Depression
Fear	Excessive stress, PTSD, Phobia
Guilt	Lowered healing energy
Conflict	Cancer

“Won’t you be a lot safer if you let go of the emotions and preserve the learnings about taking care of yourself?”

3. Prime Directives:

“Not letting go of this emotion is in direct conflict with the highest Prime Directive of the unconscious mind, which is, ‘To preserve the body.’ This emotion, though getting results, does not preserve the body; it hurts the body. Wouldn’t it be better to let go of the repressed emotion and get the same results in some other way?”

Procedure:

1. "I'd like to ask your unconscious mind to float up in the air, above your Time Line, into the past and down into the event – right into Position #4, looking through your own eyes, and (pause) when you're there, notice the emotion that's present."
2. "Float back up above the Time Line and go to Position #3, well before the beginning of the event, or any of the events that led to that event, and turn and look toward now. Ask your Unconscious Mind what it needs to learn from the event, the learning of which will allow you to let go of the emotions easily and effortlessly. Your Unconscious Mind can preserve the learnings so that if you need them in the future, they'll be there." (pause) When the Client has the learnings, "Tell me what they are." If there are no new learnings go to Step #3. If there are new learnings go to Step #3.
3. "Now where is the emotion? ¹ Where did it go? That's right, it disappeared."
4. "Just float right down into the event and notice that the emotion has disappeared. Is the emotion totally gone! Good, come back up to Position #3."
5. "Now, come back to now, above your Time Line only as quickly as you can let go of all the (name the emotion) on the events all the way back to now, assume position 3 with each subsequent event, preserve the learnings, and let go of the (name the emotion) all the way back to now. (When Client is done) Float down into now, and come back into the room." (Break State)
6. Test: (Client back at now.) "Can you remember any event in the past where you used to be able to feel that old emotion, and go back and notice if you can feel it, or you may find that you cannot." Good come back to now. (Test until the client is convinced)
7. Future pace: (Client back at now.) "I want you to go out into the future to an unspecified time in the future which if it had happened in the past, you would have felt inappropriate or unwarranted (name the emotion), and notice if you can find that old emotion, or you may find that you cannot. OK?" Good come back to now.

ANXIETY

Procedure: (Make sure you are working on a specific event.)

1. "What are you anxious about? What specifically?"
2. "Good, just float up above the Time Line..."
3. "And float out above the future to 15 minutes after the successful completion of the event about which you thought you were anxious. Tell me when you're there."
4. "Good. Turn and look toward now, along the Time Line."
5. "Now, where's the anxiety?" ¹
 - (If Client says, "It's Gone" go to #6.)
 - (If Client says, "It's still there," then ask, "Are you imagining it completing successfully?" If "no," then talk about successful completion for the event and then to go Step #3.)
6. "Come back to now."
7. If desired, test by having the client think about what used to make them anxious, and notice that there is no anxiety.
8. If you are eliminating all anxiety, then go to #1 using a new event.

¹ NOTE: If anxiety does not disappear, then reframe, "I know that there's a part of you that thinks it's important for you to have some anxiety to motivate you, and I agree that it's important for you to be motivated. The problem is that anxiety is not good for the body. Are there other ways that would be OK for you to motivate yourself, and let the anxiety go?"

Additionally, anxiety may be the result of fear, which has not been released. For a Presenting Problem of anxiety, always release fear first.

IF A CLIENT ASSOCIATES INTO A TRAUMATIC MEMORY

Remember, it is not unusual for clients to associate into a traumatic memory during a Time Line Therapy® Technique. There are other techniques that actually associate clients into traumatic events on purpose. Unlike these techniques, it is not the intent of Time Line Therapy® to associate the client into a traumatic memory, however it is not unusual. If your client associates into an unwanted memory here is what to do:

1. "Where are you?" (If the client is feeling the emotions, the client is in the memory – in position 4.)
2. Whatever the client says, "Good, just get up above the Time Line so you are looking down on the event."
3. (Pause) "Are you above the Time Line?" (If no, then go back to Step #2)
4. If yes, "Good now make sure you are in Position 3. (Pause) Now, where are the emotions?"

Sometimes the Time Line Therapy® Practitioner, although patient, has to be quite forceful or authoritarian in getting the client to get above the Time Line. Remember it is important for the client's comfort to get him or her out of the traumatic memory as soon as possible. While we say that negative emotions are good, it is also not good to hold on to the emotions. If the client remains associated it just strengthens the emotions.

5. If steps 1 – 4 do not work then stand up and clap your hands over the client's head and say, "Open your eyes and look up at the ceiling. Keep your eyes up." (With client's eyes open, go to step #2.)
6. If step #5 does not work, stand up and say to the client, "Stand up and walk with me." Then walk the client around the room at high speed while you do the Time Line Therapy® Process while the client is walking.
7. You may also need to use the Error! Reference source not found.
